ANNUAL ADDRESS OF THE
BISHOP OF MISSOURI
TO THE
FIFTY-EIGHTH CONVENTION.

DEAR BRETHREN OF THE CLERGY AND LAITY:

The Diocese is dear to us. It seems to us a living thing. We meet year by year to greet its life and mark its growth and provide for its supplies. And it will outlive us. Men die, Institutions live. We want to work, I feel sure, while it is our day, to advance the life of the Diocese and promote its vigor, that we may hand it on to others, as others have handed it to us, a thing of health and hope and efficiency. Runners we are as in the ancient race holding lighted torches. We are to fall by the wayside one and another soon. But God will provide others to seize our outstretched lights and to speed on swift and strong in their turn.

Ten clergymen only are in the Diocese who belonged to the Convention of 1886 which elected me to be your Bishop. And one only remains, Rev. F. B. Scheetz, of the Convention of 1868 which gave me the first call.

Two Presbyters of the Diocese have died during the year. Both had "come to four-score years" and more.

The Rev. O. H. Staples had reached his eighty-sixth year. The last fifth of his long life he had spent in the retirement of his room enforced by infirmity. But that room was so illumined by his unclouded faith and sweet patience and childlike submission to God's chastening, as to make his work of waiting there equally successful and triumphant with his work of serving as active missionary and faithful Pastor in earlier years, great and blessed as that work was.

The death of the Rev. E. F. Berkley, D. D., removes from us the oldest Presbyter of the Diocese and a distinguished citizen of St. Louis. Since my coming among you Dr. Berkley has not been in active duty as Pastor, save in looking after St. Paul's, Carondelet, for a time. But as Rector of St. George's, and of St. Peter's, St. Louis, and Member and Secretary of the Standing Committee and Deputy to the General Convention for many years, he filled a distinguished place in the history and activity of the Diocese of Missouri. He was eighty-three years old, and fell on sleep when the night had closed in upon the fifty-eighth anniversary day of his marriage. "So giveth He His beloved sleep," for

"Sweet is the calm of Paradise the blest, Alleluia."

The beating of the summons of death at the door of the homes in the Diocese goes ever on. Mr. Dwight Durkee, Mr. Robert Bagnell, Mr. John M. Gilkeson, Mrs. Ann C. Moore, and others, men and women, givers, helpers, workers, soldiers, have been borne away. For us who remain there is no need of an outward bugle blast. A still, small voice within plainly says to each: "Be thou also ready; set thine house in order; in all honest humility have in hand the account of thy stewardship; it will be called for soon."

Of our Bishops only one has been called away; but he a very prince in Israel, Bishop Coxe of Western New York. Poet he was, and tunefully sweet the verses of hymn and ballad which he sang. The style of his prose also, by reason of his exquisite taste, was unvaryingly elegant. Yet, prophet he was too, to utter with power solemn warning and stern rebuke. To our great sorrow, one has gone from our side remarkable for thoroughness of theological learning, grace of scholarly accomplishment, purity of character, courtesy of manner, attractiveness of person and godly devotion of daily life.

Another undoubted sorrow to the American Church has been the death of the late Archbishop of Canterbury. Archbishop Beison took pleasure in being gracious and friendly to Americans. The thirteen years of his occupancy of the Chair of St. Augustine were filled with labors most abundant and with zeal never cooling. There were rare combinations in his character; of sweet kindness of heart and manner with unflinching boldness in maintenance of principle and discharge of duty; of profound scholastic attainments with a high order of administrative ability in practical affairs. From knees bent in public worship of his loved Heavenly Father, he was removed almost immediately to the well-earned rest of Paradise. O felix opportunitate mortis!

For that he was a father and brother faithful and beloved in the Episcopate of the Catholic Church we lay our wreath of grateful reverence upon his grave.

But, in anything which might be styled official relation of the American Church to the See of Canterbury, a godly jealousy on our part, I venture to think, is not out of place.

At the approaching Lambeth Conference, for attendance upon which the generous kindness of friends in the Diocese has bidden me to prepare, one of the subjects selected for discussion is, "The Organization of the Anglican Communion." Under this subject, one of the heads is, "The Relation of Primates and Metropolitans in the Colonies and elsewhere to the See of Canterbury."

I suppose the "elsewhere" may include the United States. If so, I am free to say out my thought, that we do not want any organization at all of the Anglican Communion which shall involve an organic relation of our American Church to the See of Canterbury. We honor and revere the occupants of the Chair of St. Augustine, the Sedem Venerabilem of the historical Anglican Communion for thirteen centuries. And when sittings are had or conferences are called, we readily grant to the Archbishop of Canterbury the first and highest seat by courtesy. Further than that I would not go. Dinloth, the old British or Welsh Abbot of Bangor, gave answer to Augustine himself when the latter asked submission to the See of Rome: "We are obedient and subject to the Church of God, to the Pope of Rome, and to every pious Christian, to the loving of every one of them in his station with perfect charity, and to the helping of every one of them by word and deed, to become the sons of God. And I know not of any other obedience than this due to him you call Pope, or which may be claimed and demanded by him. And this obedience we are ready to give; and to pay to him and to every Christian continually. Besides, we are under the government of the Bishop of Caerleon upon Usk, who, under God, is to oversee over us, to cause us to walk in the way of life." Is it uncatholic or unfit or unwise for Americans, thirteen hundred years afterwards, to avouch in the same strain: "We are obedient to the Church of God, and to his Grace, the Archbishop of Canterbury, to the loving of him with perfect charity and to the serving of him and all pious Christians in the helpful ways of brotherly affection and humility. Further than this we know not of any obedience due, and we would not that any obedience should be claimed. Besides, we have our own Bishops and our Senior Bishop presiding over them, to oversee over us and to cause us to walk in the way of life."

We may not safely, it seems to me, disregard the prerogatives of sovereignty which Almighty God has lodged in each one of His three Institutions, the Family, the State, and the Church. The State is the Nation. The Church may not rightfully lord it over the Nation, any more than the Nation may over the Church. The Roman Catholic Church is, and has been for eight hundred years, an object lesson of the unlawful usurpation of sovereignty by one Divine Institution, the Church, over another Divine Institution, the Nation; and of the friction, resentment, and rebellion sure to result from such usurpation. The present Archbishops of England point out in their Encyclical, Saeptius officio, how this inveterate error of the Roman Communion of substituting the visible head for the invisible Christ will ever rob her best and well meant words of any fruit of peace. In a queer nineteenth century echo of ancient papal claims General Booth makes the same sort of mistake. Fervent zeal for the unity of religion sometimes fails to watch out where to plant its steps of advance, and so is found trampling upon the lawful sovereignty of the Nation's God-given rights.

Let not the American Church then, I would say, favor any step looking towards organic connection with the See of Canterbury. In the field of the Church, history and experience prove such international movements unwise and injurious. Right and best for us it is to stand by and work out the old Cyprianic maxim, "Unus Episcopatus est cujus in solidum pars a singulis tenetur." The unity of religion is in the universal Episcopate. And the historic Episcopate is one, the power of which in undivided solidarity is held and wielded by the individual Bishops.

Casting our eyes over the affairs of the Diocese, lights and shadows, as in all matters of human experience, present themselves to the view.

The entire Convention will go with me in heart when I express our sorrow for the disability under which the Rector of St. George's, St. Louis, has suffered for the year; and our loving sympathy in the bodily weakness with which it has pleased God's Providence to visit him. Our prayers are not wanting that our Heavenly Father may restore him to health and strength and to the usual measure of his vigorous usefulness amongst us.

It is a satisfaction to give my thanks, and I hesitate not to believe the thanks of us all, that the Rev. S. H. Green, after a short year of wandering in a far country, is home again in the Diocese and in the Convention; and that our brother, the venerable Rector Emeritus of Kirkwood, the Senior Presbyterian of the Diocese, has such a loving son and successor to stand by his side and take up his devolved work in that important Parish.

No one of us can forget the last two days of our Convention of last year. How, on one of them the dreadful tornado came with devastation and death in its path, so quick upon the heels of a hasty adjourning that some of you could not get home. And how the next day the Convention, though shattered, shorn, saddened, met and went bravely through the needful acts of its imposed duty. I confess it makes me proud to recount how, right on after the disaster, a spirit of manly submission and earnest doing of duty seemed to rise up in St. Louis and pervade the hearts of all her citizens. I dare avouch, you heard not anywhere much whimpering or repining; not much rebelling or cursing. Those suffering suffered bravely. Those unhurt ministered without stint help of sympathy and love and personal service and money. Blessings of such service lighted up the clouds of the dark affliction.

Yet the losses entailed by the sad disaster have contributed with the general hard times to make the year a trying one for St. Louis people. We could not expect otherwise than to find the truth of this exemplified in Church work and giving. One of our Church buildings was demolished. Another was badly shattered. The constituencies of several congregations were much crippled. It has been a matter of grave difficulty for them to go on in meeting the ever-pressing needs of parochial expense. So our Lenten Sunday School offerings have shrunk. And Parish incomes not a few have lessened. Outside of St. Louis, too, there has been shrinkage. In Crystal City hundreds of men have been out of employment, and so unable to help to support the Church. It may be that we shall find it hard and almost impossible this year to keep up the good habit of which Missouri is proud, of leaving over no delinquencies to be reported in the matter of Diocesan assessments and Missionary pledges. But I am convinced strenuous effort to avoid such reproach will be made; and, if the seven fat kine of the years of plenty do come along to swallow up the seven lean and odious creatures of scarcity, Missionary boards and Diocesan funds shall eat of the milk of the flock and be refreshed.

Ways of securing support for the Church in her missionary and parochial work are not easy. I venture to think I am right in supposing God never intended them to be easy. Heartly effort, earnest self-denial, loyal self-devotion are necessary for the development of strength of Christian character. If things were easy in Church work and giving, I fear we would fail in much of that wholesome development. We may not expect, we should not wish, for a time to come when calls shall let up, or we cease to be invited to exert ourselves in work for the Church and deny ourselves to give to the Church. The Church is spiritually dead when she does not make the calls, and we are spiritually dead if we do not watch out to hear, and spring forward to heed, the calls.

The Church is a Divine Institution. So are the Family and the State Divine Institutions. But all three are in the world, set up to make their way and do their good there. And faith in their divine authority and potency must never let slip the exercise of common sense in their support.

May I try again to lodge it in men's minds that it is never intended to make it easy to support the Church? Fidelity to principle, steady satisfaction in the discharge of duty and sturdiness of devotion in the line of soldierly loyalty are meant to be put in use and kept in use continually. The invigorating exercise thereby gotten may not, I dare say, make and find things easy, but it does give the honest glow of a noble pleasure.

In this City of St. Louis are scores and hundreds, and, I fear me, thousands, of baptized members of the Church, and not a few of them confirmed members, who are not connected with any of the Parishes or under any direct pastoral supervision. I would that I could get their ears. I wish I could reach their hearts. They are good men and women in daily conduct; faithful fathers and mothers in intention. I would say to them: "Dear friends, you know what a blessing the family is. You know what a comfort the home is. In a wider sense the Church is a family and a home provided by our Heavenly Father. Get enfolded in it, I beseech you, in a loving, working, practical way. The wider home shall make the closer one all the more dear and safe. If the Church near be a free Church, go and enroll in its membership. Make your pledge towards its support, even if it must be little. If it be a pewed Church, go. I vouch that the pastor and vestry will receive you kindly. Secure and pay for such sittings as you can, humble though they may be. For any one who goes to Church, not to give steadily, systematically, and on principle to support the Church, seems much like resolving to subsist one's self entirely on invitations out to dinner, or to submit one's self to the continuous charity of free lunches. And I venture to assure you that your whole inner being shall be ennobled and invigorated by your doing something as well as receiving, and by your honorable consciousness that you are soldiers enranked and loyally serving, and not mere unregistered camp stragglers. God has provided that the support of the larger home as well as the nearer home shall be furnished by you and others. You take honest pride in meeting and discharging the obligations which fall upon the latter. It is all the dearer to you, and you are all the prouder of it, because you discharge the obligation. Have a pride then, and as far as you can, give the Church to have pride, and share you her pride and pleasure, in meeting and discharging like obligations."

In some pewed churches I have heard of people giving up their pews for the time of their going to Europe for three or six months, or for their summer sojourn of a month or two. I must think that this hurrying age drifts into thoughtlessness any who do this. I am sure if they stopped to think they would reason as follows: "The necessary expenses of the Parish go steadily on whether I am here or not. They are fixed charges. I want to do my share, of course, in meeting such fixed charges. Rented pews are the business method of providing for such fixed charges, so that offerings and gifts may superabound for missions and benevolence. Taxes to the State are paid to meet the fixed charges for machineries of justice and protection and civilization. I pay my taxes to the State, of course, whether I am here in person or in Europe or at the seaside. Ah, yes, it is clear I have been doing a thoughtless thing, and, I rather think, on the whole, a mean thing, in giving up pay for my pew in my temporary absences."

If I am right in my diagnosis, to aim to make the support of the Church an easy thing, may work actual harm. The Church surely ought not to be rated as less divine than the two other great Institutions. Usually we do not have fairs and bazaars and suppers and concerts to support the Family and the State. We would not esteem it at any rate quite the dignified thing to do. Shall dignity be counted out, in methods to support the Church, while it is counted in, in support of the two other Divine Institutions? And, besides, if the means sometimes resorted to are proposed as an easy way to support the Church, may they not in the nature of things do more harm than the hard way of asking for and working for and giving out direct gifts for that purpose? I am aware that it would be an unjust reproach cast upon a most valuable class of faithful workers in every Parish, I mean the women, to say that they are manufacturing, by the process of fairs, etc., an easy way to support the Church. Many of them who do the work and carry it out to success find it right hard. So they escape the curse of easiness and attain the blessing of hardness. I am aware also that these indirect means of support develop energy and distribute interest and promote valuable co-operation in many a Parish. And I know further that sometimes the maxim that necessity knows no law, must rule, and the indirect means are adopted as the only practical mode of meeting honest and urgent obligations. Yet, conceding all due regard to exceptional considerations, suffer me to plead that we ought not to lower the dignity of the Church where we would not think of so doing in case of the Family and the State; and pardon me for urging that to make Church support easy to patrons and buyers may be the way to do real harm to their souls.

The Confirmations this year are a surprise to me. They are only 387. Last year they were 615. I find myself utterly unable to account for such a falling off. It so happens that with some important Parishes as the Redeemer, St. John's and St. Peter's, their occasions of the annual Confirmation do not fall within the year. But this fact is not enough to explain the shrinkage. Nor am I aware of any lack of energy on the part of pastors or of earnestness on the part of flocks. Perhaps, last year, in some Parishes double lists fell in. Any way, thanking God for the 387, we will push on with His help faithfully asking others to come out manfully and in full uniform, and enroll themselves in the ranks of the Lord's marshalled hosts.

There is some carelessness, I am sorry to say, on the part of the clergy, in their making and using of accurate Parish Registers. May I urge upon my brethren painstaking attention to this matter? Be sure that you have a Parish Register. Be scrupulously careful to enter promptly your transactions in it.

Permit me to suggest, if out from the Parish Register and from his annual report to the Convention every Rector would prepare and preach to his people an annual sermon, the effect would be exceedingly beneficial. He could, in that sermon, tell them what they had done and given; and such honest and thankful telling seldom fails to make hearts warm. He could tell them what he would like them to do. In this busy, clamorous age, it is the dictate of common sense that the pastor must stand for the invisible verities, and plainly present to the people the needs and claims of religious work. Instead of shrinking from doing this, he should adopt it as a clear part of his sworn and soldierly duty. I know not a better or more fruitful practical thing for a pastor to do than once a year to preach such a sermon of thankful summing up to the people of what they have done, and hopeful outreaching towards what they are going to do. Quite half the people in every congregation are amazingly ignorant of how the Parish is supported and of what are its doings, and what its hopes and fears, and of the urgent need for individual exertion and loyal co-operation to keep parochial life healthful. The pastor's annual sermon would be, I am convinced, a valuable help towards satisfying minds, and warming hearts, and setting and keeping things right.

But let us have done with spying out faults. There are things in the Diocese to rejoice over, so plain that he who runs may read. Spite of hard times the people have stood by their pastors. Only two clergymen have left us, Messrs. Potter and Boogher. Their places have been filled. The Sunday School Lenten offerings are considerably over $1,000. In the last year's official tables of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, Missouri with its $4,058.26 is ahead of all the Western Dioceses except Chicago and Michigan, and of all the Southern except Maryland and Washington. Fifty-two out of fifty-six Parishes are listed as givers. Only four failed. It is an excellent record. I am proud of it; and glad over it.

The year has been an unusually hard one for the Woman's Auxiliary to gather funds. Yet it has gone right on gathering. And has gotten really very little less than last year. I hope the women know what a wonderful help they are to me. In many cases I could not plan, I could not keep out of the deeps of anxiety in working the plans, but for their aid. Their generous provision of $1,000 for St. Stephen's annual expenses makes that work possible. Without it we could not go on. I do not know whether the women of the Auxiliary, at their meeting of Friday next, will undertake to raise the $1,000 next year. I hope they can see their way to do so; but I know it has been hard and trying for them this year. This sum of $1,000 pays rent and janitor and necessary expenses for St. Stephen's, with an allowance of $150 for charity. May I earnestly beg the clergy to help their Auxiliary representatives to undertake and to secure the amount needed? The plan is to ask subscriptions of fifty cents per month or six dollars per year from the men and women of the Parishes for this specific purpose. Is there any other better way to distribute the expense absolutely needed for the care of this our one common City Mission? If there be, I shall be glad to adopt it and to try to help to carry it out. The scholarships for clergymen's daughters which, in one way and another, by the Auxiliary, by the Alumnae of Bishop Robertson Hall, and by individuals, are provided, are a relief to me and a blessed refreshment to the home of many a faithful pastor. The women's generosity overflows, thank God, to the help of Missionary Bishops and Indian Territory Hospitals and the United Offering and Foreign Missions.

And the "Missionary Host"! What would I do without that and the $1,000 which the children give me through that? One of our most prosperous new churches they have helped me to launch. I mean St. Philip's. Already it has four-score communicants and a Sunday School of over one hundred; while the foster parent Church, St. James', from which it seemingly colonized, is stronger and larger than ever.

And the "Bishop's Purse"! Its income, this bad year, is $800 more than last year; in all, $4,329.43. I wish I could disclose to the givers the details of the blessings their gifts have distributed.

There are two Institutions in which the Parishes of St. Louis, and some out of St. Louis, blessedly unite for good work: St. Stephen's Mission, and the Mission to the City Hospital. I am glad and grateful to be enabled to say that there is a reasonably fair prospect that St. Stephen's, before next winter, will secure the erection of its much-needed and long-desired building. Some generous individuals are putting the chariot wheels blessedly into motion by gifts of $2,000 each. Of the Mission to the City Hospital I cannot speak in terms of too high praise. Mr. Charles U. Holmes gives up all his time to it. He is sustained by faithful givers in the different Parishes. God bless them all! They are helping to roll off from our shoulders as a Church the reproach that "I was sick and in prison, and ye visited me not."

Yes, there is much that is healthy and hopeful all over the Diocese. While we breathe the air of healthfulness and take in the refreshment of hope, I ask leave to advert to two matters. They are allied matters. They both pertain to what my heart never ceases to be full of, Missions.

I. In our Diocesan Missions I beg for the loyal and generous consideration of you all. We have work in hand. The Diocesan Board of Missions must watch it and nurse it. But they cannot appropriate what is not given or pledged. To keep the work well in hand we need $4,600 this year, or $800 more than was pledged last year. May God the Holy Spirit put it into the hearts of clergy and laity and parishes to throw easiness overboard and welcome in hardness in the increase of pledges and gifts!

II. Last January the Board of Managers of Domestic and Foreign Missions addressed to me a communication meant for the Bishop and Convention of Missouri, giving information about some plan for apportioning among the Dioceses the amount needed and that the Board would hope to receive, respectively, for its work. I answered that I would bring it before our Convention. It would be well for a Committee to be appointed to whom I can hand this paper for consideration.

If you are not tired of me and my sayings, may I reiterate that as a Missionary Bishop I was sustained for near twenty years by this Board of Managers, and that my heart, in deepest gratitude, yearns to do all I can for help to them and relief of their anxiety in carrying on the important work committed to their hands. I heartily wish we could see our way to relinquish the $920 per annum which they grant to Missouri. This would be a noble and substantial way of helping them. Can we not do so? Or begin to get ready to do so? If good times come, may I not indulge the hope that this will be among the first things we will do? Milwaukee last year did it. I know we are not right strong. But in the fifth city of America, soon to be the fourth, as we are, is it not wisest and noblest and best for us to step forward and say to the New York Board: "We thank you warmly for your care of our infancy and childhood; we will ever remember you gratefully; we shall want to do all we can to help you; and now in the line of such help we want to relieve you of your fostering care of us and of the stipend you allow us; and we bespeak your sympathy and God speed as we start forth to stand and walk alone."

It seems to me to be the grateful, worthy, manly, right thing to do so soon as ever we can. Perhaps it is wise in us to do it of ourselves before some day a message comes to us from the Board of Managers—of how perplexed they are in coping with the expanding needs of the great Missionary work of the American Church, and how it gives them pleasure to recognize and compliment the conspicuous energy and prosperity of the important city of St. Louis by committing henceforth to her able care the growing Missions of Missouri.

Situated as I am I must needs be much in touch with all sorts of Diocesan details. Such details are not calculated to keep one altogether free from perplexities and anxieties. But the comfort and courage gotten from the way in which Diocesan officers do their part are cheer to my heart, and nerve to my arm in trying to do my part. I venture to say, the going on of the life of the Diocese is, by the average Churchman, taken as a matter of course. There seems no need for him to bother. Perhaps no other one knows as well as the Bishop how much bother is taken and how much work done by one and another that such life may be kept in good health.

The Chancellor sits busy at his desk, but every time the Bishop goes in to request the benefit of his professional skill and counsel, the papers are put aside and the most courteous and careful attention is given to the matter presented.

The Treasurer pulls a laboring oar, but the stroke is even tempered and steady, and the craft responds so satisfactorily that plaudits once and again and from outside the Diocese have been won for her successful sailing in the choppy and dangerous seas of Diocesan assessments and dues. Since I have been Bishop of Missouri the full quarterly payment of my salary when due has never been delinquent for even one day.

The Finance Committee, in counsel and in discharge of auditing duty, look once and again scrutinizingly into the Diocesan accounts and investments and securities; and wholesomeness is well served by that sort of practice.

The Standing Committee, and the Examining Chaplains, respond uncomplainingly to the demand for service of hours, and even days, of their valuable time.

The Missionary Board holds its important meetings; and its efficient Secretary and no less efficient Treasurer, retained in office now for many years, in their painstaking faithfulness are conspicuous examples of how good men best meet and do what is among the highest of the duties of earthly life, viz., the fulfilling of an important trust imposed upon them by their fellowmen.

The officers of the Woman's Auxiliary, in conferences for counsel, in preparation of reports, in gathering of money, and in distributing to needs are assiduous in energy and untiring in zeal.

The editor of the CHURCH NEWS continues faithfully and patiently month by month, coaxing correspondents, gathering news, keeping accounts, correcting proofs, writing editorials, and all without money and without price; and issues unfailingly on publishing day the oldest Diocesan paper in the United States without which we simply could not get on.

And as for him who this year completes his twenty-fifth incumbency at the Secretary's laborious desk, I beg to avouch out of my eleven years of experience by his side that I have never known a more courteous, helpful, accurate, unwearied, and uncomplaining fellow-officer than he. Never once by word or sign has the slightest hint been shown that he deemed it a burden or an annoyance to submit himself to the minute and careful attention, to the varied and bothersome details attaching to his post as Secretary. Out of an affectionately grateful heart I want to thank him, and to lay my humble tribute of acknowledgment upon the trooping years which this day present themselves to our faithful and honored brother in make-up of silvery sheen.

Brethren of the Diocese, the modern steamship walks the ocean as a thing of life. It is a presentation of prodigious strength. It is a picture of symmetry and grace. But deep down in the hold are the human beings who contribute to keep her steady and to move her on. You, a passenger, scarce ever see them in all your course from shore to shore. The captain you do see. He is an important functionary doubtless. But what would he be or what could he do but for the steady workers in the vessel's depths far down below?

So also in the Diocese, the captain walks about enrobed and uniformed, and smilingly chats and dines, and sometimes shouts commands. But what would he be, and what could he do, without the engineers and stokers, not so conspicuous as he; the lubricators and attendants, who in the places of official trust and in the homes of parish workers are ever on watch and guard in the lines of faithful, unceasing, heroic, but often obscure and unnoted duty.

God bless the engineers and stokers and laborers, every one! If they be true and steady we have little fear. Then, O Ship of the Diocese, all hail! God speed! Sail on! Reach port, and bring us Home!

The past year has been one of unusual stringency and no doubt sacrifices have been made to meet obligations, and I desire to extend my sincere thanks to the Clergy and Officers of the various Parishes and Missions for the effort made this year to pay the quarterly assessment promptly, and as experience has no doubt proven to all that have tried to do so, that it is much easier to raise the amounts needed to pay quarterly than it is to pay the amount in full at one time, I trust that hereafter all the Parishes and Missions will make a united effort to that end, and thereby enable my successor to meet all Diocesan obligations promptly without having to borrow money for that purpose. Thanking each and all for the courtesy and kindness shown me during my official career, I am,

Yours obediently,

WALLACE DELAFIELD,
Treasurer.

At its last meeting the Board of Trustees adopted the following resolution:

The Board of Trustees of the Theological Education Fund begs leave to call the attention of the Clergy and Parishes to Canon No. XX, which enjoins that a collection for their fund shall be made yearly on the third Sunday in Advent, they are obliged to report that only twenty-five Parishes out of the forty-two active ones in the Diocese have complied with the law this year, while the needs of this important part of the Diocesan work are certainly trying upon the Bishop. Respectfully,

WALLACE DELAFIELD,
Secretary.

APPENDIX No. 6.

Report of the Committee on Finance.

Your Committee beg leave to make the following report:

As directed by Canon XVIII., we have audited the following accounts: The Treasurer of the Diocese, Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund, Theological Educational Fund, and the Permanent Fund for the Support of the Episcopate, and found them correct with vouchers for all disbursements, and the securities as reported by the Treasurer.

The Bishop has shown us a certificate of deposit for $1,158.30, the amount of the "Gill Legacy." The interest for the past year, $46.32, was used by him in paying the premium on the life of a Clergyman of the Diocese.

Mr. F. J. McMaster is the custodian of a certificate of deposit, dated October 10, 1895, for $925.49, with accrued interest, $37.01, which he has shown us. The certificate is in the name of Sallie E. Stephens, Trustee for St. Stephen's Mission Building Fund.

We append a summary of the several accounts:

Your Committee call attention to the Diocesan assessments reported as unpaid at the time the Treasurer's account was audited, May 18th. The amounts were all due by the several Parishes, and had they been paid the Treasurer would have been able to pay off all liabilities to June 1st, as has been his custom heretofore. Payments made since his books were closed leaves the amount due from Parishes, $615.

The fixed charges to be provided for are as follows, viz.:

Salary of the Bishop and his travelling expenses.....	$4,625 00
Salary of the Bishop's Secretary.....	300 00
Secretary of the Convention	100 00
Registrar	25 00
Printing the Convention Journal	350 00
One-third of the expenses of Deputies to the next General Convention.....	200 00
One-third of the Convention assessment, say.....	50 00
Miscellaneous	150 00
	$5,800 00

The liabilities, as reported by the Treasurer of the Diocese, are $1,700.00; to meet which he has due from Parishes, $947.35, and cash, $481.80. Assuming that the $947.35 was collectable there would be a deficiency for the year of some $300; but we know that $150 has been remitted by action of the Convention, and at least $500 more is in doubt. Hence, with a shortage of nearly $1,000, and our requirements for this year of $5,800, an assessment should be made for sixty-eight hundred dollars ($6,800).

Therefore your Committee would offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Assessments be instructed to make an equitable assessment on the several Parishes and Missions for sixty-eight hundred dollars.

C. S. FREEBORN,
WM. H. THOMSON,
WM. BAGNELL,

Committee.

APPENDIX No. 12.

Report of Missouri Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary.

To the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, S. T. D., Bishop of Missouri, and Members of the Woman's Auxiliary:

With the horror and almost the storm clouds themselves of the never-to-be-forgotten 27th day of May still hovering over us, we held our last annual meeting May 29. About one hundred women impelled thither, many of us with the hope that some organized help could be given to the members of our Churches in distress, gathered for the Holy Communion and to ask help and guidance for the work. And so this year's report gives besides the boxes for our Missionaries and the usual Missionary gifts, the report of the money for the restoration of our Churches and material help for our friends in their necessity. A committee was formed with one woman from each parish, and for three weeks constant work was done among the sufferers. Each parish report gives the amount of money donated, and the value of new clothing, and besides this, about 1,000 bales of half worn clothing were distributed through appointed helpers at St. Stephen's, St. John's, Mt. Calvary, the Bethesda Home and St. Mary's Church, East St. Louis. Our President with her busy and ready pen, sent letters to friends in the East, telling of the distress, and in reply she had $1,300 to divide among the stricken Churches towards restoration. Several hundreds of this came from sister branches of the Auxiliary, from Chicago $100, from Connecticut $350, from Massachusetts $200.

Our winter's work has been in the usual lines. Columbia has been added to our list, so that this year every parish in the Diocese has been at work, and the Mission at Canton has also been added. We can therefore grow but little hereafter as far as branches are concerned, but very much in increased interest and activity.

Our greatest work has been the $1,000 for St. Stephen's current expenses. All praise and gratitude is due the parish collectors for making it possible for us to redeem the Auxiliary pledge. Of their faithful service we have had the best proof.

The summary of the year's work is given below, and the parish reports show how varied the work has been, though the figures have fallen a little below those of last year.

Report of Committee on Assessments.

Your Committee on Assessments beg to report that they have assessed an aggregate sum of fifty-eight hundred (5,800) dollars for Diocesan expenses for the coming year, and that they have distributed the same among the several Parishes and Missions as set out below. We have not assessed the sum of $6,800 as directed by the resolution of the Convention for the reason that we do not believe, in the present financial condition, it will be possible to raise the additional thousand dollars called for, and we further believe that the delinquent Parishes will pay up during the coming year. The assessments by Parishes and Missions are as follows:

APPENDIX No. 14.

Report of the Standing Committee on Christian Education.

Though we have technically no Diocesan schools, yet the members of the Convention, and the Church people of the Diocese have a direct interest in the welfare of the two institutions, Bishop Robertson Hall, under the care of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, and St. Mark's school, Portland, under the charge of the Rev. F. E. Alleyne. Both of these institutions are doing work up to their ability in providing a Christian education to the pupils committed to their care on the broad principles of the Faith as taught by the Church.

Bishop Robertson Hall, now in its twenty-third year, has enrolled during the present year sixty-eight pupils; of this number twenty-four are members of the household department, and forty-four are day-scholars, with thirteen teachers. The course of study is flexibly adapted as far as possible to individual capacity and disposition, and no impossible curriculum is laid down to be superficially carried out. During the year the Bishop of the Diocese has given a series of lectures on Church History, and the Chaplain, the Rev. S. H. Green, has given weekly instructions on special departments of study. The pupils in science have enjoyed unusual advantages in microscopical study furnished by the skill and instruments and voluntary kindness of Dr. James A. Close. No higher encomium can be passed upon Bishop Robertson Hall than the loyal and faithful devotion of the Alumnae to the school, and also the fine quality of the accomplished Churchwomen among the graduates, whose Christian influence is a powerful leaven in all good works for the welfare of the Church.

St. Mark's school for boys is limited to its accommodation for boarding pupils, there being no day scholars. The number of inmates at the present time is twenty-five. The Rector of the school makes the chronic complaint that Church families do not sufficiently patronize the institution, and reports that the majority of the pupils are from families outside of the Church. Your Committee can suggest no remedy for this unfortunate condition of things, though, perhaps it may not be unfortunate to be the means of training children, no matter where they come from, in Christian knowledge according to the ways of the Church. St. Mark's has the invaluable advantage of being enabled to give individual care to boys separated from the temptations of promiscuous large schools, and of the evil associations and distractions of town life.

As to the general subject of Christian education, it is a question whether the Diocese of Missouri is in any way approaching the demands of the present time, and taking that active interest in it that is vital to the future welfare of the Church in the Diocese. In regard to the practical outcome of the question, your Committee have nothing definite to offer, for the reason that it has so many complications, so many differences of opinion, and especially because it requires the essential element of money to make a move.

APPENDIX No. 15.

Report of Committee on Resolution for the Support of Sunday Schools.

ST. LOUIS, May 18, 1897.

To the Rt. Rev. D. S. Tuttle, D. D., and the Convention of the Diocese of Missouri:

The Sunday School Support Society has now entered upon its third year. Its Constitution was revised at the annual Convention held this year on the 27th and 28th of April in St. James' Church, Macon, so that all Sunday School workers may become members without distinction of age and sex. The relation of the Society to the Clergy in the fulfilment of their canonical duty has been provided for in Arts. VII., VIII.

The condition and usefulness of the Society is shown by the following statistics:

Chapter 1.	St. James' Church, Macon, 16 members.....	$130 00
Chapter 2.	St. John's Church, Decatur, Ill., 18 members.....	Dues.
Chapter 3.	Booneville, Mo., 5 members.....	Dues.
Chapter 4.	Christ Church, Moberly, Mo., 11 members.....	Dues.
Chapter 5.	Calvary Church, Louisiana, Mo., 16 members	5 00
Chapter 6.	Grace Church, Clarksville.....	Dues.
Chapter 7.	Emmanuel Church, Old Orchard, 10 members.....	75 00
Totals: 7 Chapters, 76 members		$210 00

All these Chapters have their own officers, hold stated meetings, and are under the Rector or Clergyman in charge as President ex-officio. The General Council is a Board of fourteen members elected annually to keep the records of the Society, call its Conventions, and plan for the good of the order. The members of this Board for this year are:

Mrs. R. W. Rhames, President.....	Louisiana, Mo.
Miss Ethel Knight, Vice President	Macon, Mo.
Miss Alma Hess, Secretary and Treasurer	Macon, Mo.
Miss May Taylor.....	Macon, Mo.
Miss Jessie Maffery ..	Macon, Mo.
Miss Kate Richmond.....	Macon, Mo.
Miss Claudine Baird	Louisiana, Mo.
Miss Margaret Knight	Louisiana, Mo.
Miss Beatrice Atkin, ...	Decatur, Ill.
Miss Mary Hott.....	Decatur, Ill.
Miss Pearl Gould	Moberly, Mo.
Mr. G. W. Malcolm.....	Macon, Mo.
Mr. W. P. Nelson.....	St. Louis, Mo.

Your Committee would further report that we have examined the Constitution and Form of Admission of this Society and would respectfully call the attention of this Convention to the following points: The Sunday School Support Society does not propose to undertake to introduce any new work on teaching in the church, but only to apply the power of consecrated effort to the Sunday School work which is already recognized. The practical results of this Society, are its only arguments for recognition, and for these, therefore, the Committee respectfully refer to the statistics above given. We assure this Convention that it is our unanimous conviction that this Society is worthy of encouragement, and that it may become a strong helper in the religious and churchly training of the people of this land, and especially in bringing outsiders into the Church. We therefore offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Convention heartily congratulates the Sunday School Support Society upon its organization and success and bids it and all its members Godspeed.

APPENDIX No. 16.

Report of Committee on Church Halls.

The Committee to whom was referred the matter of the establishment of a Church Hall in connection with some existing institution of learning in the Diocese, beg leave to present the following as their report:

Modern education, more particularly the higher education, is a very costly thing. It takes hundreds of thousands of dollars nowadays to establish the educational plant, and as much more to provide for its maintenance and growth. Its demands are ever increasing. This is true of the college, where the so-called liberal studies are pursued, as well as of the scientific, or engineering school, which fits men for professional life. The old-fashioned recitation has been to a great extent supplanted by the lecture, accompanied by original research by the student. The laboratory method has come into use, not only in the study of the natural sciences to an extent unknown twenty-five years ago, but also in the study of language, literature, history, and even psychology. A working library must nowadays be supplied with both old and new material, the latter in ever-increasing quantity and variety. The chemical and physical laboratories of to-day are extensive and costly, but without them no institution can pretend to be well equipped. Teaching has become more and more specialized, and we are no longer willing to call our college faculty a strong one unless we have an expert for each separate subject, who shall give all his time to his specialty. The good old days have gone forever when a college could employ one man to fill three chairs, and all for one hundred dollars a month. The building and the land are more costly and more extensive than of old. Physical education makes its demands also, and the gymnasium and the athletic field add to the costliness of the plant.

These well-known facts confront us when we talk of founding a College, or a University, for the higher education of the sons and daughters of Church folk who do not want their children removed from the influence of the Church; who, it may be, prefer to keep them near home, but who want them educated in the modern fashion. The Church has institutions of high rank to which its youth may go, but they are far from this part of the country. Attempts have been made from time to time to build up Church colleges in individual Dioceses. Such attempts were necessarily failures. We have had some experience in that sort of thing in the Diocese of Missouri.

Now, what is the remedy which has been found for this difficulty? How may the blessings of a modern liberal education be secured for the sons and daughters of Church people, and at the same time Church influences be continued without the expenditure of the vast sums now absolutely necessary for the founding and endowment of a really first-class institution?

We answer, by the establishment of Church Halls in connection with some existing institution, with which a friendly relation, agreeable to both parties, may be secured. This idea is not a new one. Such annexes to long-established universities have been enjoying a prosperous life for years; notably at Toronto, Canada; at Ann Arbor, Michigan; and at Madison, Wisconsin. A building is erected upon the grounds, or near the grounds, of a State University, or some other acceptable institution, the cost of which is met by the Church people of the Diocese. In this building, or group of buildings, goes on the home life, so to speak, of the students attached to the Hall. Here may be said morning and evening prayer. Its interests may be placed under the general care of some person approved by the ecclesiastical authority of the Diocese. The spiritual welfare of the students may be cared for by an appointed clergyman residing near by, the rector, perhaps, of a parish adjacent to the college. For all their class-work, library and laboratory work, for lectures and all that makes up the student's life outside the home, they would be dependent upon the university like the other students. They would have equal share with them in all of its privileges, and be amenable to its laws. They would pay the university fees and be enrolled in its list of members. The Hall would be their home, with such surroundings as a Church home could give.

This is substantially the relation which has existed between the Church Hall and State Universities of Michigan and Wisconsin.

Now in this Diocese it is useless to talk of founding a Church College. We should only be able to add another to the fifty or more small schools that have arrogated to themselves the privilege of granting university degrees. But with the State University at Columbia, or with Washington University in St. Louis, it is possible to make such an arrangement as that which we have briefly outlined. At either one or both of these places a building might be erected in close proximity to the University, and all the privileges of a high-grade institution of learning might be secured without any expense except the building and its care and maintenance. The State University would welcome such an annex, and if only one hall were to be erected, that might be considered the best location. Perhaps some would prefer to have their children nearer a large city, to enjoy such benefits as come from the neighborhood of more active life. Their wishes might be met by uniting with Washington University, which is hoping soon to occupy its new and beautiful site just northwest of Forest Park.

The State University and Washington University are by law non-sectarian, but they are not Godless, or anti-Christian. There would be nothing in the work of the lecture-room or laboratory out of harmony with the religious life of the Church Hall.

Your Committee would make as a part of their report the following in quotation marks from the pen of the Rev. W. H. Watts, referring particularly to the State University:

"The real progress of the State University dates from its reconstruction, material and intellectual, about six years ago—or shortly after the great fire, which destroyed the accumulations of half a century. Since then its progress has been very pronounced and encouraging. In six years the number of high schools articulated has been more than doubled, while their quality has been greatly improved, the enrollment of students at the University has grown forty-two per cent, or one hundred and twenty per cent, according as the preparatory students of former years are deducted or not deducted in making the comparison; the annual income has been increased eighty per cent, the interest-bearing endowment has been enlarged one hundred and twenty per cent, the buildings, more than doubled in number, have been greatly improved in convenience, a graduate department has been created, while the range of instruction in all branches of learning has been so increased and improved as to render the University in these respects a new institution. It should be borne in mind that all this has been accomplished, notwithstanding that a fire destroyed nearly all the building and equipment accumulated in fifty years; the abolition of the preparatory department, the raising the standard of admission to all departments, four years of the hardest times ever seen in the history of the country, and last but not least, small appropriations from the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth General Assemblies.

"These facts are mentioned to introduce others. This improvement in the material and other conditions of the State University has greatly increased what may be termed University attendance on the services of the church at Columbia, and substantial interest in its well-being. In this the church in the State, and at large, is equally benefited. This fact may be explained by the larger number over former years of members of our church who are to be found in the faculty and student body. Eight years ago not a single member of the faculty was a communicant, and but one attended the services of the church, and there were but three students calling themselves churchmen. To-day, of the faculty, seven are communicants and five more are attached and are contributors. Two are members of the Vestry. Five professors have been confirmed during the present rectorship. Of the student body it may be said that at least thirty are attached to the church; of these, thirteen are communicants in this and other States. This showing, though not great, is far from discouraging, when the peculiar difficulties are considered, which have to be overcome before progress can be made. Certain it is, that with a Church Guild or Hall much more might easily be accomplished.

"Another thing might be mentioned, which has an important bearing on this subject. The attention of Christian people is increasingly directed to religious training and social environment in connection with Universities. It has come to be believed that in institutions of learning claiming to be non-sectarian, and in which there is no direct religious instruction, that Christian societies may, and ought to provide for the spiritual and social interest of their members who may be students. The idea has gone even beyond this, to have theological schools, unaffiliated, with State and other great institutions of learning, yet, at the same time receiving for their students instruction in literature, science, and art. This it is thought would be more economical, and yet secure the most satisfactory results in mind-training and scholarship. This form of Christian enterprise meets with favor in many quarters and is in operation in Missouri, Michigan and Massachusetts. The University of Toronto, in the Dominion of Canada, has four such schools, our own church being represented among them; and even conservative Oxford, England, has been invaded by this later, and as many regard it, progressive idea. 'Each of these institutions managing its theological work independently of the University, and each sending its students into the University for that training which is characteristic of no profession, but which should be common to all.'

"These things are mentioned, not in advocacy of this method of theological education for which in our Church there seems to be no great demand or necessity, but it shows incidentally a peculiar trend, which indirectly and ultimately may have an important influence on student members of our Church. But if we do not wish to avail ourselves of the universities in the direction indicated, it shows that the opportunity is wide for the foundation at centers of learning, of Church guilds, which shall have for their object—I quote from the constitution of the guild at Ann Arbor, Michigan, 'to bring the students of the university who are attached to the Protestant Episcopal Church into acquaintance with each other by social and other gatherings, to promote the moral and spiritual welfare of its members, by mutual counsel and encouragement in the performance of Christian duties, to afford opportunity for the study of Holy Scripture, and provide courses of lectures from time to time, as suggested by the Bishop of the Diocese.'" Of the value of such institutions near our universities, and accessible to all worthy students, there can be no question. The Church guild at Ann Arbor is evidence of their usefulness. The rector of this institution, in a letter to the President of our State University says, 'that no step of his Church in Michigan taken in recent years, gives such high proof of high wisdom and Divine guidance as the foundation of this guild.'

"The aim and methods of a Church guild may be better understood by a description of the Ann Arbor guild, supplied by its President.

"1. Harris Hall, land, building and furniture, cost $25,000.

"2. The building is 90 by 50 feet. It has two stories and a high basement. In the basement are the gymnasium, bowling alley, billiard room and bath room. On the first floor are a hall, three large parlors, a reading room and library, a dining room and kitchen. On the second floor are a hall, the office, and an auditorium which seats four hundred, with stage and dressing room. The money for this property was contributed in various sums by churchmen and churchwomen in the dioceses of Michigan, Chicago, in New York and Philadelphia. The institution is supported with the income of invested funds gathered in the same manner as the money for real estate, and amounts now to about $40,000. No students live in the building. It is merely a club house for use during the day and evening. He says further, 'the influence of the institution on the university is indirect, strong, and very helpful, and is a powerful means of extending the influence of the Church among the student community.'

"We might not hope or expect to accomplish so much as the Diocese of Michigan, at once, nor even in the very near future, but we can at least, by the action of this Convention, give the project such an endorsement that a good beginning may soon be made in our Diocese, with possibly the assistance of the Diocese of Western Missouri and elsewhere.

"The influence of such an institution co-operating with and enlarging the activities of the Church, would act as a missionary center. Out from it would go to all parts of the State, and often in other places where our Church is unknown, young people who are trained to loyalty and service, with habits formed to enjoy, and not to abuse, the recreative forces and appliances of rational living, and grateful to their spiritual mother for the generous thoughtfulness and active interest which has made bright and cheerful their university career.

"I am glad to be able to say in conclusion, that the President of the State University will gladly welcome and assist, to the extent of his ability and influence, the establishment of a Church Hall at Columbia."

For a sum inside of $50,000 it would be possible to erect and furnish such a Hall at Columbia or St. Louis, both desirable places. Church people who hesitate to send their sons and daughters to distant colleges, but who desire to keep them under the influences of the Church, would be willing to patronize such an arrangement, and perhaps there could be found in this Diocese persons who would honor the Church and honor themselves by founding a Kemper, or a Robertson, or a Tuttle Hall, in connection with one of these institutions. In view of what has been said above, we offer the following resolutions:

Resolved (1), That the plan of establishing a Church Hall at one of our universities commends itself to this Convention;

(2) That the Bishop of the Diocese be requested to give the matter his careful consideration, and to take such steps as may, in his judgment, be expedient to further this plan.

Respectfully submitted,

MARSHALL S. SNOW,
W. HENRY WATTS,
WM. SHORT,

Committee.

APPENDIX No. 17.

Report of Standing Committee on Missions.

The Standing Committee on Missions beg leave to report: The falling off in missionary contributions during the past year is not, we hope, due to any decrease of zeal or knowledge. On the contrary, we find a greater interest in missionary classes for instruction, and appeals of all kinds are listened to with interest and sympathy.

We do not feel that we need to apologize, even in the present long-continued financial distress, for presenting as strongly as may be the present and pressing needs of Christ's work in this jurisdiction. Outside the City of St. Louis there is no distinctively missionary work going on, while opportunities are abounding.

We are already reaping the fruits of a wise missionary sustentation in the past, notably at Columbia, where there is now a noble self-sustaining parish, with fine opportunities of missionary work among the students and teachers of the State University. Much more might be done there by the establishment of a Church Hall, as will probably be shown by the Special Committee appointed to investigate this matter. Our own personal investigation of this matter at Columbia, and its important connection with the cause of missions, will excuse our mention of it in this connection. In our opinion the time has come, the need is urgent for this addition to our missionary machinery. The sum of $15,000 would be quite sufficient for a building and the beginning of a proper equipment of a Church House at Columbia, and we know of no way in which such a sum would give promise of greater good.

There are throughout the Diocese still, several towns and hamlets where the services of the Church are utterly unknown. There are others where the Bishop coming once a year or so is the only missionary. Brethren, this ought not so to be. Something ought to be done, and done speedily, for the scattered sheep in the wilderness. We cannot lightly throw off our responsibility; we must do something and that soon, or our candlestick will be removed.

Whatever steps may be taken by our Bishop in his wise discretion for providing for the spiritual ministrations to the scattered ones of his flock, and for aggressive work in neglected places, let him have the hearty and generous support of the whole Diocese.

APPENDIX No. 18 A.

Report of the Chaplain of St. Luke's Hospital.

Another year of steady, faithful and intelligent work, has been the record at St. Luke's Hospital. It is not to be appreciated from statistics merely, nor is the steady usefulness and beneficence of the Institution to be gathered from the figures found in its records. The happy households with loved ones restored to health, the valuable lives brought back from the confines of death, the mitigation of intense suffering hopelessly endured for years, speak more eloquently than can words, of how this Church Institution and Christian Charity is doing its work in our midst almost unheeded and practically unknown to the masses of our people; but remembered by the many with gratitude for the relief and peace that have been vouchsafed within its walls. It appeals to all Christian hearts, for it ministers to "all sorts and conditions of men;" but especially does it ask for the interest, the prayers and gifts of those who are of our "household of faith." While the Clergy of the City and County of St. Louis are members of the Hospital Association, it is a somewhat rare thing to see a Clergyman at the Hospital, with the exception of the Cathedral Clergy and Chaplain, unless he has a patient whom duty binds him to visit, and outside of the ladies of that great helper, the Giving Tuesday Association, and the permanent benefactors of the work, the laymen and the women of the city seldom find time to visit it. It is because I know, from daily calling, how much the personal interest in this work of Christian men and women would encourage the officers, relieve the loneliness and monotony, and give all a better insight and knowledge of this great Christian Charity, that I have ventured to write as I have in this annual report.

Mrs. G. M. Gibson remains the efficient and honored Superintendent of Hospital and Training School, and with intelligence and courtesy supervises the many and varied interests of each, and helps to make it the undoubted success it is. The Hospital is a Christian home, as well as a Hospital, and the Chaplain desires to express his great appreciation of Mrs. Gibson's devout helpfulness in all the offices of the Church which he has had the privilege of exercising in the wards, and at the bedsides of the sick and suffering.

One gift of $5,000.00 and one of $500.00 have been left by will to the Hospital during the year, and these will bear their part in the work. It is well to remember that, unendowed, no Hospital is self-supporting, nor should we expect it, for the more it has, the more it should rejoice in expanding its usefulness.

The sixth annual graduating exercises were held in St. Luke's Chapel May 6th, and five nurses received their diplomas.

The services in the wards and rooms of the Hospital, were as follows:

Holy Communion—in private.....	5
“ “ in public.....	2
Ward services.....	44

The number of patients during the year was 477.

Religious Creed—Churchmen, 104; Roman Catholics, 65; Presbyterians, 56; Baptists, 33; Methodists, 62; Congregationalists, 10; Lutherans, 26; Unitarians, 3; Evangelical, 7; Hebrews, 9; Salvation Army, 2; Campbellites, 27; no professed faith, 73.

There have been 106 free patients, 2,612 days in the Hospital; 34 free surgical operations, with 74½ days of free special nursing—night and day.

This is the official record of charity—gladly given. It could be largely increased by a statement of pay patients—who never pay.

St. Luke's stood last year, according to the award made by the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, at the head of the Hospitals in this city—other than city public institutions—in charitable work.

May it ever hold that grand and Christian position, and may the gifts of God's people enable it to do so.

KENNETH M. DEANE,

Chaplain.

Report of the Registrar and Librarian.

The Registrar and Librarian submits the following report:

The Library has received more attention during the year, as a means of reference for the clergy, than usual, and continues in good order and condition.

It has received but two gifts, but they are both valuable. The first is a very large Book of Common Prayer of the Church of England, received through Mrs. Tuttle. It was printed at Cambridge in 1762, and is marked with the name of C. S. Hawks, First Bishop of Missouri.

The second gift consists of 35 volumes published by the Christian Literature Co., being 9 volumes of the Ante-Nicene Fathers, 14 volumes of the Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, first series, and 12 volumes of the Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, second series. These books are all new and in splendid condition, and form a valuable reference library in themselves. They are the generous gift of the Rev. F. B. Scheetz, Rector Emeritus of Grace Church, Kirkwood.

The giving of these and other books by clergymen, while still living, seems to your Librarian to be an excellent means of making the Library still more valuable and useful, without any additional expense to the Diocese.

The usual exchange of Journals with other dioceses has been made during the year, and courtesies extended by various Registrars.

The balance remaining is $16.65.

Respectfully submitted,

KENNETH M. DEANE,

Registrar and Librarian.

APPENDIX No. 20.

Report of Committee on Constitution and Canons.

On page 34 of the Journal of 1896, the Standing Committee on Constitution and Canons is instructed to report to this Convention, the matter referred to the said Committee by the Convention of 1895, and not reported on in 1896.

The only matter thus referred to is found on page 24, Journal of 1896, on which an amendment to Canon X., Section 1, is proposed by Mr. B. F. Gray, Jr., as follows:

"Moved to amend Section 1, Canon X., as follows: Strike out word five in the ninth line of said section, and insert in lieu thereof the word eighteen, in a district bounded on the east by Jefferson avenue, south by Chouteau avenue, north by Cass and Easton avenues, and west by city limits."

The Committee recommends that the amendment be not adopted:

- (1) Because the distance is too great.
- (2) Because it sets off a section of the Diocese for which a particular Canon is enacted, and is therefore special legislation.

The Committee respectfully recommends the substitution of the words "one thousand" for the words "five hundred" in the ninth line of Section 1, of Canon X.

P. G. ROBERT,

Chairman pro tem.

APPENDIX No. 21.

Report of Committee on Constitution and Canons.

The Committee on Constitution and Canons, to whom was referred the proposed amendment to Canon XII., offered by Rev. P. G. Robert, to strike out the word "Easter" in the first line of Section 1 of said Canon, and insert in lieu thereof the word "Advent," respectfully reports, that in its judgment, it is unwise at the present time to make the proposed change, and therefore recommends the following resolution: "That the proposed amendment be not adopted."

APPENDIX No. 24 A.

Report of the Secretary of the Orphans' Home.

EASTER TUESDAY, April 20, 1897.

Our stewardship for the fiscal year is ended. It has been a year of stirring events, of trying vicissitudes. Preeminent among these was the devastation wrought by the cyclone of May 27, that and the damage of a previous hail storm costing us in toto the sum of $1,861.20. And still, in the face of this unusual tax upon our resources, we are able to-day to declare ourselves out of debt—free and unhampered.

To be sure we have undergone many inconveniences of retrenchment. One cherished scheme, especially, we felt obliged to relinquish, using the precious funds in hand for that purpose, and adding thereto, to meet our indebtedness for the damages of the tornado.

Our scheme was the building of a day nursery, an addition much needed. The plan upon which our hearts were set was the erection of a building with wide verandas, situated on the west side of the yard back of the building and connected with it by a covered way, and—most cherished plan of all—we were at last to have the requisite bath-room accommodations. The dreadful storm has spoiled our plans, but the vision remains and we hope some day to see it realized.

As matters now stand our nursery is situated on the third floor, where the pressure of water is so poor that we are denied the ordinary bath-room conveniences, and the three flights of stairs for these nursery infants form a very effectual obstacle in the way of their free enjoyment of the fresh air and bright sunshine that ought to be their hourly privilege.

Our Infirmary Building has been called into requisition at various times but there have been no deaths, and no long-continued epidemic, the health of the children upon the whole being fairly good.

It may be pleasing to some of our friends and patrons to know that we are cheered now and then by gratifying accounts that reach us sometimes from far distant quarters of the world, concerning the children raised in the Home.

Not long ago one of our leading St. Louis merchants was accosted on the street in San Francisco by a thrifty business man who, recognizing him from having been in his employ for a time, informed him of his former connection with the Home, saying that he recurred to it with gratitude and wished the managers to know of his success and present independent circumstances.

A few girls raised in the Home are occupying creditable positions as teachers in our public schools, and some of the older girls in the institution at present are doing creditable work in the public school with a view of fitting themselves for future usefulness as teachers. Again we have letters from adopted parents thanking us for a new joy and happiness that has come into their lives.

During the year the children have been accorded the usual social pleasures, the usual holidays and beautiful feasts of the Church have been observed and enjoyed by them, and visits now and then to the parks have refreshed and delighted them.

We desire to make acknowledgments to Drs. Saunders and Chapman who have served us long and faithfully; to our oculist, Dr. John Green, who finds time out of a busy life to give us the benefit of his skill; to our aurist, Dr. Fayette C. Ewing; to the Exposition Association, whose invitation never fails to come, and to Mrs. Anna Bent, whose generosity gave the children this year the pleasure of a second unexpected glimpse of the wonders of the Exposition building; to the Parish Guilds for their assistance in making up garments; to our Advisory Committee; to our legal counselor, Mr. Thos. K. Skinker; to our Chaplain, the Rev. P. Wms. Fauntleroy, and to many other friends who have aided us with gifts and subscriptions.

We confidently appeal for the continued and increased interest of the parishes and of all friends of the institution.

We invite our friends to visit the Home and see for themselves the bright, contented faces of the children who are its inmates. Please bear in mind that Thursday is the day for visitors.

We have received during the year 41 children; 34 have been restored to relatives and friends; 7 adopted; 4 indentured; 1 ran away. There are at present 69 children in the Home.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. EDWIN HARRISON,

Secretary,

Respectfully submitted,

ANNIE D. NEEDHAM,

Treasurer.

I hereby certify that I have this day carefully examined the books, accounts and vouchers of Mrs. Annie D. Needham, Treasurer of the Orphans' Home, for the year ending Easter, 1897, and found them correct in every particular. They show a balance of cash on hand of $510.03, all of which is deposited in the State Bank of St. Louis. I have also examined the securities belonging to the Home and deposited in the St. Louis Safe Deposit Co.'s vaults, and found that they amount to $48,000 face value—real estate not included. All improvements on property given as security for notes held by the Home, have been fully insured for the further security of said notes.

EDWIN HARRISON.

St. Mary's Guild paid all the music expenses, and is deserving of honorable mention. It should not be omitted that work has been done in the Industrial School, of Columbia, by several good women of the parish.

I took charge of Grace Church Parish on October 1st, 1896. In addition to the services in the Parish Church, I have held two week-day services in the Chapel at St. Paul's Station. The Sunday School in this Chapel is kept up by the steady and faithful work of Mr. Arthur B. Ambler, and services on Sunday have been held at least once a month in the Chapel at St. Paul, and also at Eureka, by the Rector Emeritus, the Rev. F. B. Scheetz. A Bible class for men, in connection with the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, has been taught on each Wednesday evening (except during Lent, when the regular Church services were said), in Grace Church Guild Room.

As Chaplain of the Sisterhood of the Good Shepherd in St. Louis, I have celebrated the Holy Eucharist in the Sisters' Oratory 24 times since November 1st, and have held 22 brief services with addresses in the School Room of Bishop Robertson Hall.

STEPHEN H. GREEN.

Since October 1st I have, with Mr. Green's consent, baptized one (infant); buried one, and solemnized one marriage; all of which will be included in his report.

I have also assisted, at his request, in several services, and held one or two services, each month, at Eureka and St. Paul's Station.

"The Gregory Memorial Window." This great seven lancet West Window of the Cathedral, was presented on All Saints' Day last, by Miss Maria C. Gregory, now and for many years past living in Paris, and who was a member of the Congregation when the Church Building was on the southwest corner of Broadway and Chestnut street.

The window in its subjects is peculiarly suited for its position in a church bearing this name, all being taken from the life of our Lord, from the Nativity to the Resurrection.

The glass is a perfect reproduction of ancient glass staining, in the treatment of the subjects, colors and mode of setting, examples of which may be seen in the Church of St. Sebaldus, in Nuremberg, as well as in several other places on the Continent.

A glance at the figures given in the above report will suffice to make apparent the heavy loss sustained by this Parish in the past year by deaths and removals, the total loss from these causes alone amounting to nearly one-fourth of its whole number of communicants.

The story of the cyclone's total wreck of our church on Jefferson Avenue, and our being compelled to seek temporary quarters in the old and inadequate church on Grand Avenue, is a familiar tale. With the exception of some small amounts, less than two hundred dollars in all, we have received no offers of help towards rebuilding from any of our sister churches in the city, and the individual subscriptions which we have been enabled so far to obtain from persons in the city amount to only about fifteen hundred dollars. We are struggling on, however, endeavoring to bear our full share of the work and expense of the Diocese, and hoping and praying that in God's good providence we shall yet be afforded such assistance at home and abroad as will enable us to rebuild our church. Besides the two hundred raised for the Building Fund by the Ladies Sewing Guild, they raised for general expenses upwards of three hundred dollars.

Please note the fact, also, that Mrs. Harriet S. Tuttle, for and on account of the Woman's Auxiliary, raised for us the sum of six hundred dollars, for which we are duly grateful.

Owing to Missionary's absence with his sick family, only four or five services and as many celebrations were held up to the time of his resignation at the beginning of the year.

No improvement in St. George's, Bevier, but a positive and disheartening state of things for the worse. The settlement of the difficulties of one of the great properties is still deferred. When they are finally settled there must be an improvement. There are two things that indicate improvement and give renewed hope even in this day: First, the Sunday School is kept up with a good attendance of teachers and scholars; and second, it is understood that a deed has been made to the Bishop of the Church Property, and it may be added, that the few families and individuals left there seem to be loyal and faithful.

The Rev. Mr. Davidson, of Macon, has given some week-day services during the last Lenten season, and on one or two Sundays besides.

This Mission is now under the ministerial charge of Rev. P. G. Davidson, of Macon.

The Font is a memorial by General and Mrs. E. B. Brown to their daughter, Mrs. Sarah D. Green.

As many of the confirmed persons have lapsed, besides the number given in this report, and as some of the communicants at present in good standing pay nothing to the Church, the burden comes heavily upon those who do pay. I, therefore, respectfully recommend to the Board of Missions that Cuba be not required to pay as much the coming year as the past year.

During the past year the Church has been reroofed and the Vestry Room enlarged. It is very much in need of paint outside, and replastering inside.

Easter Sunday the church edifice was crowded. The music was excellent. The sermon was on the Easter theme, the Resurrection. The collection was good and went to the Minister in charge.

When we take into consideration the fact that our church edifice is a wooden one, capable of seating only 100 in the pews, we may feel that we are doing very well; and then the fact that we have no dissensions, but that all things are moving in harmony, is a consideration that is of value. If we had, like the bodies around us, a fine edifice, we as the Church could be much larger in every way than we are. It is to be hoped that not many years will be allowed to pass, as it is an important field, before some one of means will take into consideration our needs and build us a memorial church. There could be no better place for one than our city, where there is so much learning, and several institutions for the education and healing of the souls and bodies of men and women from all parts of the world.

During the year a Font has been placed in the Church. The Sunday School is prosperous, although there are only about a dozen Church children among the scholars.

The Church is in need of painting, and of a foundation under the Chancel and Vestry-room. The people are poor and work hard to keep up the expenses. The increase of Convention Assessment the past year came very hard upon them, and I respectfully ask that it be reduced.

The regular morning service on each alternate Sunday was stopped by the cyclone of a year ago, as it devastated the residence of the Misses Tijou, which had been placed freely at the disposal of the Mission. In the fall, a hall on the third floor, corner Tower Grove and Vista avenues, was secured, and services every Sunday morning and evening begun, with the exception of two each month given at St. Charles. Whether it be owing to the fact of going up to a third floor, the attendance has not been as good as it was in the residence of the Misses Tijou. The Sunday School has been a marked improvement on what it had been in other places, since my taking charge, and the work done an advance on previous years, as offerings testify.

During the year another payment has been made on the lot, which the Treasurer, Mr. D. F. Leavitt's report will show, and an effort is now being made to pay the balance due, the earnest hope being entertained that a modest house will soon be erected for the work of the Mission.

Every third Sunday of each month I have officiated at the Old Ladies' Home, South Broadway, and also on other occasions administered Holy Communion publicly to a large number besides our own communicants.

During the year just closed, St. Thomas' Mission congregation has had the privilege of attending a greater number of services, lectures and meetings than in any previous year.

The Rev. A. W. Mann, M. A., of the Mid-Western Deaf-Mute Mission, found it convenient to give two Sundays to St. Thomas', at one of which I had the pleasure of assisting him.

Since last November, Miss Pearl W. Herdman (an expert in the use of the sign language, though not a deaf-mute) has assisted me in the Mission services as precentor, and rendered valuable help as interpreter of addresses and sermons.

Aside from my work in St. Louis, I have during the past year officiated 18 times and made 1 address in Kansas City; officiated 1 time and made 3 addresses in the Chapel of the Kansas State School for the Deaf at Olathe; officiated 4 times in Chicago and 1 time at Amboy, in the same Diocese. I also officiated and made addresses at Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., and Philadelphia, Pa. I attended and took an active part in the meeting of the Alumni Association of the Gallaudet National College for the Deaf, Washington, D. C.; of the National Association of the Deaf at Philadelphia, and was made the chairman of the executive committee of the same, and also the president of the Ninth Conference of Church Workers among the Deaf, which met at All Souls Church for the Deaf, June 27-29. Later I attended the National Meeting of the Speech Association at the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf, Philadelphia.

For continued favors from the Cathedral clergy, chapter and sexton, the congregation and minister of St. Thomas' Mission are profoundly grateful.

This is a peculiar field. I have maintained pastoral visitations regularly every month or six weeks, but have had no services during the past year, only when the Bishop was with us. This with the Bishop's advice and approval. We find, owing to its being a railroad town, that week-night services do not do any good, as people do not from various reasons attend. We can find no building in which to hold Sunday services. We have had an addition of one family from Chicago at Kaskionony, six miles above Thayer. These Church people have come there for fruit farming. They promise to look out for an opening to have service as soon as they get settled, and I have promised to go up at any time when they let me know that they are ready. This seems but a poor report, but perhaps times may improve, and more Church people move in.

To the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, D. D., LL. D., Bishop of Missouri:

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., April 28, 1897.

REPORT OF REV. AUSTIN W. MANN, GENERAL MISSIONARY TO DEAF-MUTES.

To the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, D. D., LL. D., Bishop of Missouri:

During the conventional year just closed, I held services for deaf-mutes at St. Thomas' Mission, St. Louis, exchanging once with the Rev. Mr. Cloud, its Pastor, he going to All Angels' Mission, Chicago. I also held services at Hannibal, Louisiana, Fulton and Rolla. Those at the State School, Fulton, reached the pupils from many parts of both Dioceses. I also gave them a lecture in an evening on Westminster Abbey, which I visited three years ago. At the Hannibal services I met deaf-mutes from an adjoining County. One came by team twenty-two miles. Two came a little farther than that by team and rail. One came twenty-six miles on horseback to the service at Rolla. This practical interest in spiritual things, so often shown at many other places besides, has always afforded the Missionary great encouragement.

But on account of the increasing calls within my missionary territory between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi River, I have not been able to give the attention to the Diocese of Missouri that I formerly could. The Trans-Mississippi territory, embracing several Dioceses, needs a general Missionary of its own. Within the same are about 6,000 scattered deaf-mutes, without the Church's blessed ministrations.

Since the beginning of this silent Mission in this Diocese in the summer of 1877, I have held, at intervals of five to seven weeks, a total of 211 services, 183 being given to St. Louis, the remainder to Fulton, Hannibal, Louisiana, Mexico, Jefferson City, Macon, Old Orchard and Rolla. Total of baptisms: St. Louis, 21; Rolla, 2. Confirmations: St. Louis, 37. Before the division of Missouri into two Dioceses the following places were also served: Kansas City, St. Joseph, Springfield, Sedalia and Boonville.

A. W. MANN, General Missionary.

FROM REV. HUGO RADAU.

To the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, D. D., LL. D., Bishop of Missouri:

RT. REV. AND DEAR SIR:—I held services in different churches 22 times; Preached 18 times; assisted at the Holy Communion 9 times.

Respectfully,
